HOMEMADE PHILOSOPHY.

When a wife reigns she, sometimes storms.

An ounce of happiness is worth a ton of misery.

A woman always does as she pleases, and it is up to a man to please her.

An ounce of keep-your-mouth-shut is worth a pound of try-to-square-yourself.

A diplomat is a man who tells his wife everything that happens not to happen.

The bent of a man's mind doesn't necessarily prove that he is intellectually crooked.

When a man sits down suddenly and unexpectedly he realizes what a hard world this is.

The world is charitable enough to forgive the man who writes poetry because he needs the money.

According to a fashion journal, seal-skin sacques are now made so that they cannot be distinguished from real plush.

There's no objection to a man taking up his residence almost anywhere, but when it comes to shop-lifting—well, that's different.

Men of strong character make many enemies, but that doesn't necessarily imply that men who have many enemies possess strong characters.

I HAVE NOTICED THAT—

A dollar bill in the hand frequently is worth two in a debtor's pocket.

The woman with the prettiest nose is most likely to meet with the deplorable misfortune of holding her skirts a trifle too high.

Fine feathers never can make fine birds, but the market price of a Japanese pheasant still is considerably in advance of that of a crow.

Sympathy for others finds its birth in sympathy for ourselves. The man who never had a boil might as well skip the Book of Job; he can not appreciate the fact that Job was really tempted.

True hearts are more than coronets, but the daughters of our wealthy men take less trips to Europe in order to secure them; possibly, however, this is because they know where there is the larger stock of the goods they want to obtain.

In Adam's fall we sinned all. But we should not blame the old gentleman too much on that account; it must be evident to anybody who is acquainted with us that we would have found some other way of sinning if that had not been a success.

The difference between Sunday clothing and Sunday piety consists in the fact that after a while the former is relegated to everyday use.—Alfred J. Waterhouse in New York Times.

False Hair.

The manufacture of false hair in France is daily on the increase, and within a few years the value of the hair exported has risen to $440,000.

MARRIAGE ANNIVERSARY.

September 8, 1903, was the twelfth anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. I. F. Bradley's marriage, and they celebrated in a style befitting their prosperity. There were many who took advantage of the opportunity to attest their high appreciation of this couple and emphasize the estimation placed upon the judge and his accomplished wife by this and surrounding cities. There was a constant stream of callers from 3 p. m. to 10 p. m. Kansas City has never seen so many handsomely gowned and winsome ladies of color assembled under canopy in its social history. It is safe to say that the celebrants of no other anniversary among us ever received more handsome and valuable presents. The bride was beautiful in her brocade white satin and feather ornaments. The house was lavishly decorated with potted plants, ferns and palms. The reception committee was as follows:

REFLECTIONS.

A man's bull-headedness is his worst enemy.

Anybody can see through a glass eye—except the wearer.

The command "Swear not at all" doesn't apply to swearing at.

Many a man who forged his way to the front landed in the penitentiary.

When a man frequently contradicts himself he may be right occasionally.

Some marriages are failures because the brides failed to marry the best man.

Men living within themselves haven't much to boast of in the way of earthly habitation.

A woman never loses her temper. If she has one to begin with it lasts as long as she does.

It sometimes happens that when people make up their minds a good deal of important matter is left out.

A woman's tongue is her weapon, yet few women are arrested for carrying concealed weapons. The reason is obvious.

A newly married couple may be able to live on love in a cottage until the dry goods emporiums begin to advertise bargains. Then the trouble begins.

Remembered Papa's Greeting.

A couple of Wellington, Kas., young people were seated together on the settee under the maple. They were too absorbed to notice the gathering clouds. Suddenly a bolt struck the tree and flung the young people apart with a jar such as they are not likely to forget soon again. The girl was the first to recover. "Run, George, run," she cried. "Oh, I knew you would stay till papa caught you."

Siberian Tribes.

Mr. Joel Nelson, chief of the Jessup north Pacific exploring expedition, states that the tribes which he studied in Siberia possessed characteristics in common with the Indians of North America.

A father of five marriageable daughters wants suggestions as to what kind of premiums would make them move faster.
